

The most lamentable Roman Tragedie of Titus Andronicus : As it was by the Right Honorable the Earle of Darbie of Pembroke, and Earle of Suffex theyr Seruants.

Enter the Tribunes and Senatours aloft : And the Saturninus and his followers at one doore, and Bassianus followers, with Drums and Trumpets.

Saturninus.

Noble Patricians, Patrons of my right,
Defend the iustice of my cause with armes.
And Countrimen my louing followers,
Plead my successiue Title with your swords :
I am his first borne sonne, that was the last
That ware the Imperiall Diademe of Rome,
Then let my Fathers honours liue in mee,
Nor wrong mine age with this indignitie.

Bassianus.

Romaines, friends, followers, fauourers of my right,
If euer Bassianus Cesars sonne,
Were gracious in the eyes of royall Rome,
Keepe then this passage to the Capitoll,
And suffer not dishonour to approch,
The Imperiall seate to vertue, consecrate
To iustice, continence, and Nobilitie :
But let desert in pure election shine,
And Romaines fight for freedome in your choice.
